ALL MAJORS ARE ENCOURAGED TO APPLY

January – June

The Assembly GRADUATE INTERNSHIP provides a professional development opportunity for up to 10 qualified applicants to serve as full-time staff during legislative session, assisting in policy analysis, legislative research, communications and constituent services, and representing their office at various meetings and in legislative settings. Graduate Scholars have the opportunity to develop their understanding of the legislative process and New York State government, as well as apply their ideas and research skills in a professional office environment. Graduate Interns are required to attend Issue Forums, staff training sessions and workshops designed to take theory into practice, and through which Graduate Scholars learn the hard and soft skills practiced in a legislative office. In turn, each Graduate Intern leads a group of 10-15 undergraduates enrolled in the Assembly's Session Intern Program, helping them apply their academic coursework to the practice of legislative work. This "Practicum" component of the program culminates in Graduate Interns leading the undergraduates in staging a series of "Mock Legislative Budget Hearings" in mid-February and a "Mock Legislative Session" in May, and the production of individual professional portfolios of written legislative work products. The Internship affords a unique opportunity with many of its participants moving to permanent positions in the Assembly, other government agencies, or firms practicing public affairs in the nonprofit or private sectors.

Professor-In-Residence

Professor Nick Thony

Nick Thony is the Deputy Director and Professor-in-Residence with the New York State Assembly Internship Program, where he draws on over sixteen years of public service to mentor and guide undergraduate and graduate students through the inner workings of state government. Nick began his career in the Assembly as an intern in 2008 and went on to serve as Legislative Director to a senior Assemblymember, where he collaborated with constituents, advocacy groups, and state agencies to craft impactful legislation and secure funding for vital community initiatives.

Before stepping into his current role, Nick also served as Director of Public Relations for the Albany Housing Authority, further deepening his understanding of public policy and community engagement.

Nick holds a bachelor's degree in political science, a master's degree in history, and a PhD. in history from the University at Albany. His dissertation, Lifting the Political Fog: People, Power, and Antislavery Politics in Upstate New York, 1848-1861, explores the complicated intersection of people and ideas that gave rise to the political antislavery movement in upstate New York.

An experienced educator, Nick has taught American history at the University at Albany and Siena University. He is also the host of The History Tavern Podcast, where he interviews historians on topics ranging from political biography to public memory.

Assembly Graduate Scholars receive a $23,000 stipend for the six month, full-time Internship which coincides with the legislative session from January through June. The Internship provides a unique mix of professional leaders and educational experience.
